Ready to get started?

WHAT SETS US APART?

Superior quality galvanized steel products

We use superior galvanized steel in all of our helical piles (piers) which makes our product highly durable and resistant to rust.

GoliathTech holds exclusive patents and is the only company that is in complete conformity with construction industry standards.

Exclusive anchoring solution

GoliathTech helical pile (pier) heads are equipped with a nut-fastening system. This exclusive anchoring solution allows the structure to be installed directly on the helical piles (piers), thereby preventing lateral or vertical movement.

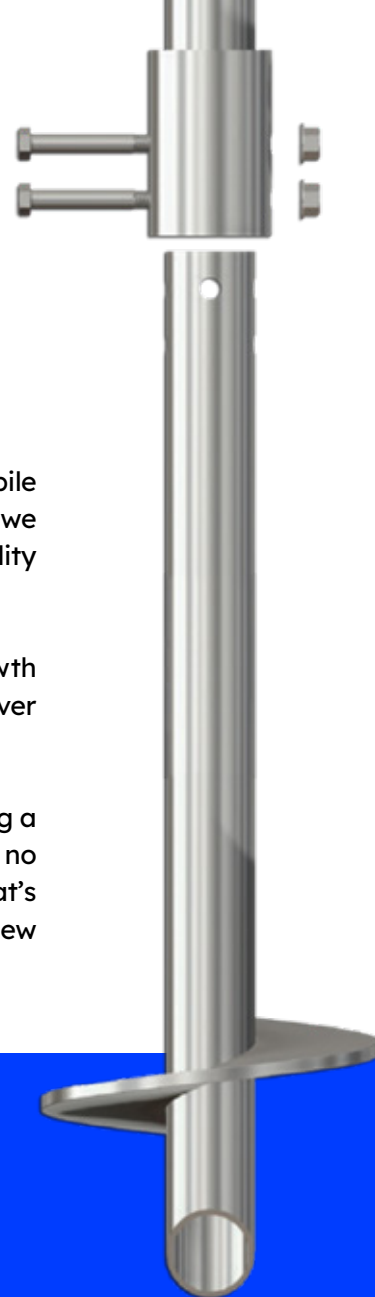

Quick and easy installation

Helical piles (piers) are installed with light and compact equipment and no drying time is required, in comparison to concrete. GoliathTech makes sure that all of its franchisees are certified installers so you can be confident that your projects will be easily and quickly completed.

Smaller environmental footprint

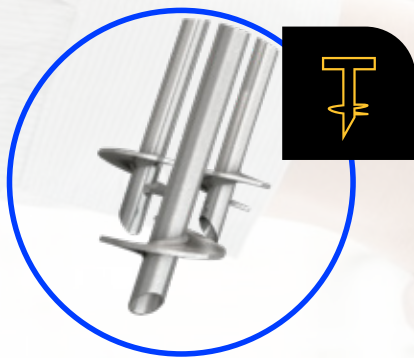

The GoliathTech helical piles (piers) cause a minimal impact to the surrounding landscape, which is a huge advantage when compared to other types of foundations. When GoliathTech completes the job, the franchisee leaves the installation site intact. Which makes for a great final product and happy customers.

WHY CHOOSE GOLIATHTECH AS A BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY?

Since 2004, we have opened hundreds of franchise units. We know that our success as a company is tied to the expertise, commitment to excellence, and entrepreneurial spirit that our franchisees uphold each and every day.

Our helical piles (piers) surpass the highest industry standards. From design to installation, we combine engineering and innovation to guarantee a solid foundation for a wide range of construction projects. Our franchise owners count on us to maintain product excellence.

WHY CHOOSE GOLIATHTECH AS YOUR FRANCHISE?

Very few other franchise opportunities today give you the tools and resources to quickly get started and to build a sustainable venture. A business you can call your own that fits perfectly with your lifestyle and that offers a high quality product.

GoliathTech is always looking for new ways on how to support its franchisees. We communicate with them about recent trends in the industry and tips on how to grow their business.

Become a valued member of an innovative construction franchise company that's always one step (or more) ahead of the competition. Join GoliathTech as a franchisee and together, we'll break new ground!

HEAR FROM GOLIATHTECH FRANCHISE OWNERS

As the #1 company for helical piles (piers) worldwide, GoliathTech prides itself on developing strong relationships with its franchisees. It's the people behind the products that make GoliathTech strong. Learn about what initially drew our franchisees to GoliathTech and what made them sign-on.

"We were able to really get out in the market and really show people the benefits of helical piles (piers). We're very fortunate here in Vermont where we have a wide range of soils and we have a pretty deep frost line. Once we showed people the benefits of using our product over traditional concrete applications, it grew exponentially."

Maxwell
Vermont, USA

"When I saw this product come across my desk I knew it was going to revolutionize the footing industry. I knew that the helical piles (piers) product would be excellent for the frost-heave situation out there. Concrete isn't the best product and when I saw this I thought, this is really going to eliminate a lot of problems for homeowners and contractors alike."

Lisa
Minnesota, USA

"When we started, nobody in Utah besides engineers had really heard about helical piles (piers). We were the main ones to start and bring it into the residential application. Within six to eight months, with heavy advertising on social media outlets, lots of lunch and learns, and having James come out and do lunch and learns, that was critical to getting us up and going."

Darci
Utah, USA

"Prior to signing I was able to come up to Magog, Quebec to GoliathTech and I got to spend some good time with Julian, the owner. Being with him for the amount of time I was with him that day convinced me what a strong company it was."

Alan
North Carolina, USA

WHAT MAKES GOLIATHTECH A GREAT FIT FOR YOU?
